

Seattle: July 15–17, 1996

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development invites you to attend regional conferences for Neighborhood Networks, a community-based initiative that uses computerized learning and online access as tools for economic self-sufficiency and community development. These conferences will take a practical, how-to approach to developing and maintaining computerized learning centers in insured and assisted multifamily housing. Sessions will focus on:

- Assessing needs
- Developing a business plan
- Obtaining financing
- Choosing technology
- Designing the site
- Marketing the program

The conferences will include demonstrations for hands-on use of the Internet and the Neighborhood Networks Web page.

Who Should Attend

Property owners and managers, educators, community organizations, residents, businesses, and HUD field staff are all encouraged to attend. Please plan to attend the regional conference nearest you. The second conference will convene at the Madison Hotel in Seattle, Washington, on Monday, July 15, 1996.
